Did You Know?

The White Earth Nation of Minnesota (and home to the Circle of Life Academy) is holding their second annual health awareness 5K run/walk this weekend. Following the run, they will feature "Little Dancer of Tomorrow" performing at their sports complex. These activities are meant to bring awareness to the tribe that children need to be more active to break the cycle of obesity and weight-related health and social problems that have disproportionately affected Native American children in recent years. We hope your schools and communities will consider doing a similar awareness activity to jump start active lifestyles for the children of your nations.
